

Cool Off at apple seeds This Summer!

Published on May 6, 2010

Summer Memberships Now Available!

In case you haven't heard, apple seeds is now offering summer memberships! Yay! This is the perfect opportunity to take this fabulous indoor playspace and all-around kid utopia for an air-conditioned test drive! apple seeds really is my family's home away from home. Our daughter Sadie takes ballet/tap class there (and yes, it's as adorable as it sounds), we always find great toys and gifts in the boutique, and Sadie got a fantastic haircut in the apple seeds salon. The staff is super friendly, recognizes us and always greets Sadie by name. I really cannot say enough good things about apple seeds. You must go check it out because it will be the perfect cool place to hang out on those sweltering summer days when it's just too hot to take your kid to the park! Summer memberships, which run from May 10th through September 5th, cost just $325 and offer the same great benefits as an apple seeds "red apple" membership during that time. That means you'll get unlimited access to the indoor playground, unlimited guest passes for first-time visitors, 10% off spring/summer classes and boutique, cafe and salon purchases. You'll also get to attend apple seeds' free Independence Day party in July and you'll receive discounts from local business and organizations. You can even apply the cost of your summer membership to an annual membership in September (and believe me, you're going to want to continue your membership!). Most importantly, your kids will absolutely love running around and exploring everything apple seeds has to offer! For more information, or to register for a summer membership, visit www.appleseedsnyc.com. See you on the playground!
